SUBSTANCE USE DISORDER IS TEARING FAMILIES APART. WE CAN CHANGE THAT.

We're here, offering help and hope to you and your loved ones.

For three decades, Gaudenzia's Women and Children's Conference has been bringing industry experts, healthcare professionals, advocates, community leaders and change agents together to encourage, collaborate and empower change to promote healthier outcomes for pregnant women, families and people in high-risk situations.

The 30th Annual Women & Children's Conference will feature internationally recognized clinician, organizational consultant, lecturer, and author, Stephanie Covington, PhD, LCSW. As a pioneer in the field of addiction and trauma, she has created gender-responsive and trauma-informed programs and services for use in public, private, and institutional settings, including developing programs for women in criminal justice settings.

Focusing on the power of transformation and improving treatment for individuals who are often overlooked and underserved, attendees will experience engaging workshops, a robust exhibitor hall, and prime networking opportunities among industry leaders.

We couldn't do this important work without you. Your support transforms lives, families, and communities.

YOU can help make a difference.
